Final stage of the project

With November 2023, the Need to Connect (NTC) project is coming to an end.

With the project being in its final stage, partners have come together for national conferences to further promote the objectives, results, and the impact we achieved among young mothers, and professionals supporting them.

Transnational conference

The partners and young mothers from all countries came together in Vélez-Málaga, located in the south of Spain, to conduct one last training, exchanging experiences and learning more about NTC. On the last day, everyone participated in a national conference which was streamed live on YouTube for all interested parties.

The experiences of young mothers in Europe

During the conference, young mothers from different countries had the chance to share their experience being mothers at a young age in Europe, as well as within the NTC project. They gave insight into how the project was applied in each country and how it benefitted them.

After the conference, all participants had an opportunity to exchange with each other in a more open and informal setting, enjoying food and drinks together.
